Director's Message

Firstly, I would like to thank every single person who entered this year's Southern Cross International Exhibition. Your contributions and support provide the foundation to build and grow a world-class collection of 3D photography and help us to promote and sustain our craft. I sincerely hope that every one of you enters again next year.

This is my first year as Exhibition Director, "taking the reins" from Andrew Read who ran this exhibition so expertly for many years. As I reach the end of this process, I can now fully appreciate and deeply respect his effort and dedication.

I'd also like to express a special thank you to our selection panel for this year, Mark Brennan, Nancy Moxom, and Ray Moxom, all internationally acclaimed 3D experts. I have served as a judge for previous Southern Cross exhibitions, but without the need to concentrate on selection it was a pleasure to witness the process from a different perspective, and to gain some insight into what makes a great 3D image.

As experts in their field, our judges instantly noticed any window violations or other technical flaws, and then moved onto the aesthetic aspects. In this year's judging, novelty, beauty and immersion seemed to be key factors. Exotic locations or unusual concepts had an instant impact, while images with wide format and good stereo depth seemed to maximise the experience. We saw many excellent images, so it was very difficult to separate them, especially near the border of the PSA's 45% acceptance rate, and it was here that visual beauty came to the fore.

And finally, I would like to extend special congratulations to our award winners and our new exhibitors. Achieving even one acceptance from such a fine set of images is an excellent achievement.

Jim Metcalfe
Director, Southern Cross Exhibition
